Watched some of your programs, I'd say they were the most professional on this kind of subject I've seen. In particular I liked the easy approach you have to your subjects, so many of these kind of info reports are condescending both to the viewer and the subject. Your style reminds me of a program called 'tomorrows world' where they explain new and innovative technical solutions in laymans language. I'm jealous, you get to do all the fun things I just tell people to write about them.

~ Christopher Lloyd Baron, EDITOR of PDX MAGAZINE
